

Community effort results in playground

Heinsburg Elementary students benefit from new play area

Playground Officially Opened

Devin Powder (left) and Jimmy Stanley eagerly await the snip of the scissors by MLA John Drobot, as he cuts the ribbon held by Heinsburg teacher Lorne Young and Norcen Energy Resources representative Allan Frankiw, to officially open the new equipment. Seconds later, the entire structure was covered with eager children enjoying their new playground to the fullest.

An exciting new playground unit is now the recess and noon hour focus for the elementary grade students at Heinsburg Community School, following a year of fundraising and community effort devoted to the project.

The project was initiated in May 1990, when teachers Connie Thomson and Shereen Naidoo drew up a plan for a new and improved playground, which would serve the needs of both the school and the community.

Fundraising got underway early in 1991, and involved the community in bottle drives, raffles, as well as selling milk, hot dogs, ice cream and pencils to the students. Also, Norcen Energy Resources was approached, and complied with a generous donation toward the playground. MLA John Drobot helped the fundraising committee to obtain a Recreation, Parks and Wildlife grant for $4000. County Councillor Bob Smith helped to obtain sand and labor from the County, while Vernon Sharkey donated the use of equipment.

The playground components were purchased from Sunshine Playground Equipment, Tofield, which also provided a supervisor during the two day building bee, and two helpers for one of those days. Concrete for installation of the unit was obtained from Car-Ouells.

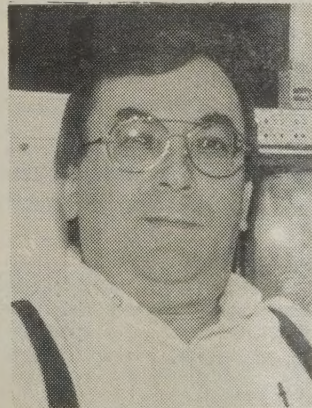

Lorne Young, who presided over the Grand Opening of the playground unit last Tuesday, said the recently completed unit is "a very good start." The next step is to move the old playground equipment from the west side of the school to near the new unit, repair and repaint it, then get busy on another stint of fundraising in order to add more equipment.

MLA Drobot attended the opening on behalf of Minister of Parks and Recreation Steve West, presenting a mammoth replica of the grant cheque and an Alberta flag. He then officiated at the ribbon cutting which officially opened the playground, which was soon completely covered with children sliding, climbing, swinging and thoroughly enjoying the new addition.

Two contest by-election

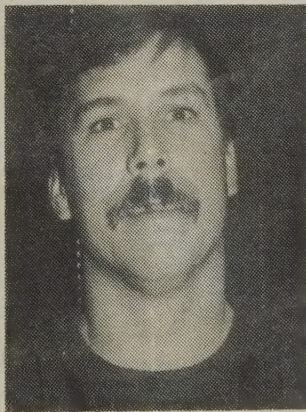

Two local residents, Mike Glover and Maurice LaFrance, have thrown their hats into the ring for the Wednesday, October 16 by-election, as they vie for the Town Council vacancy created by the resignation of Morris Cooper earlier this year. An election for School Board Trustee was not required, as Ed Buck filed the lone nomination for that position.

the town -- we haven't had an election for a long time. Regardless of who wins, the Town's a winner."

Maurice LaFrance

Maurice LaFrance is the owner and operator of Tags Food and Gas, and has been an Elk Point resident for nine years. His business experience would be a "definite asset" to Council, having given him "a good handle on fiscal affairs." LaFrance has always been interested in money management and has taken many courses on the subject. "I've never had any use for wasting. One must make sure to make sound decisions when buying something," he said, adding that "this is something the taxpayer can benefit from." All decisions "must be made with the future in mind," he said. While the Town "is doing nothing I'm opposed to," he feels "a different voice from a different direction is very good for a community. Also, Elk Point has been very good to my family and I, and I would like to give the community something in return. I have time to commit and would like to give some of that time."

Mike Glover

Mike Glover has worked in the oil industry in the Elk Point area for 8 years, and has lived in town for two years. Glover is "really excited" there is lots going on in town, with the fairgrounds, the Pioneer Circle's new building and the Bicentennial - in spite of economic conditions. The Norcen employee feels he could offer hard work and good organizational skills to Council, and hopes he could also bring new insight and a new perspective to them. Glover thinks that a town "has to work on a management philosophy, and continually tinker to try to get the most out of every dollar." A by-election will "be good for

Special meeting called

Time to plan Christmas extravaganza

A special meeting of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce to initiate plans for the annual Pre-Christmas Extravaganza, has been called for tomorrow night, Wednesday, October 9, starting at 7:00 p.m. in the Bicentennial Headquarters building (old court house) behind Elk Point Town Office. The evening meeting was suggested in order to accommodate business owners and operators who would find it easier to be present at that time than at a noon hour meeting.

The Chamber's regular meeting,

PTA tomorrow

The F. G. Miller Junior - Senior High School Parent Teacher Association will meet tomorrow evening, October 9, at 7:00 p.m. in the school library. On the agenda will be discussion of the mission and vision statements for the school.

October 2, enjoyed reasonably good attendance and presentations from two guest speakers. Financial planner Ann Snelgrove spoke on the need for estate planning and life insurance, and on the impact of capital gains. Ms Snelgrove hopes to set up a sub-office in Elk Point next spring.

Joanne Hutton is Elk Point coordinator for the St. John's Ambulance Great Lifesaver Challenge. The aim of this event, which will take place November 1 to 9, is to become the community which trains the greatest percentage of their population in the basics of first aid. Three hour courses will be set up at times to suit the businesses, schools and other groups involved. A $5 fee per person will be charged, with $2 of this to go to a charity, $1 to the St. John's Ambulance area office, and the remaining $2 to the instructor. However, Ms Hutton said she will be donating her fees to charity also. More information will be available on this as arrangements progress.

New Community Services Director Terri Ehler was welcomed by the Chamber.

Plans for the Mayor's Prayer Breakfast, November 2, were briefly outlined by Frank Mayner. This event will be hosted by the Historical Society, and will take place in the Empress Banquet Room, with Caroline Yewchin on hand to give an uplifting message.

Discussion of Small Business Week activities was deferred to the October 16 meeting.

Billie Milholland displayed one of the Bicentennial Licence Plates which will go on sale next week, and a prototype of the Great Pumpkin Cookbook which will be hot off the press for the Thanksgiving Day Great Pumpkin Challenge at Smoky Lake. She indicated that the Bicentennial Society will promote any souvenirs which are locally made for the events.

A Welcome From Becky

Becky Beaver welcomes new franchise owners, John and Ida Maksymec, to Dave's Pizza.

Dave's Pizza celebrates their grand opening

The new owners of Dave's Pizza, Elk Point, celebrated their Grand Opening this past weekend, with many well-wishers dropping by to congratulate John and Ida Maksymec on their new undertaking in the food service business.

The Maksymecs, who have run a home-based catering business for the past five years, purchased the Dave's Pizza franchise from Ron and Sharon Smith a month ago, and are enjoying their increased contact with the public and the challenges of running a restaurant.

Changes and additions to the menu are already underway. They plan to have special weekend meals, such as the pyrohy dinner they offered on the September 21 and 22 weekend, which was a big hit. Next weekend, they are planning a traditional Thanksgiving feast.

The Grand Opening was marked with free flowers for the first 100 ladies, a visit from Becky the Beaver, free coffee and squares, and draws for five door prizes. Alex Diachuk of Vegreville was the winner of a small pizza each month for a year, Lawrence Kiziak won the steak dinner for two, Chantal Maas of Elk Point won the Dave's Pizza t-shirt, Kay Jacula of Vermilion the six pack of shooter glasses, and Leslie Calliou of Heinsburg the Dave's Pizza cap. Congratulations to all the winners, and thanks to everyone who came to the Grand Opening.

Elk Point Ag Society Riding clinic update

On the weekend of September 28 and 29, the first Riding Clinic was held in the new Elk Point Ag. Society Show Barn. The building is not yet fully completed but was more than satisfactory for getting out of the elements! The Clinic was full, with 9 participants and a waiting list of about 4 people. The group consisting of both experienced and inexperienced riders and horses had an enjoyable time and appreciated the new indoor facility immensely.

This past clinic was a CEF Western Riding Program clinic which was specifically designed to help promote a standard in the care, handling, and riding of the Western horse. These clinics are excellent for beginners and new horse owners and also experienced horse people wanting certification or to brush up on skills.

The Program is divided into 5 levels of experience. Level I, involves all the basic skills needed to branch off into other areas of riding. Level I is broken up into 4 Rider chapters or levels. The past clinic was a Rider I and II clinic. Students were taught basic theory about parts of the horse, care in maintaining a healthy horse, grooming, saddling and bridling, equipment, basic safety in buying, caring and then handling horses. The practical riding included how to mount and dismount properly, body position at the walk jog and lope, rein effects and introduction of leg aids, the stop and back-up and posting to the diagonal.

On the weekend of October 19 and 20, another CEF Riding clinic will be offered. This clinic will cover the topics in Rider III which is a review and carry on from the first clinic. In this clinic students will cover the theory topics of emergency and preventative care of their horse, simple bandaging techniques, more detail on equipment and its uses. The Practical riding will consist of a review of the basic skills in Rider I and II and the addition of more leg aids, turn on the haunches, and more lateral work. All is used to gain control of the horse's body and be the rider and not just a passenger.

Horsemanship should be fun but only if there is an element of control and safety!

It is not mandatory to have taken the clinics in order, so if you missed the first clinics you are still eligible to come and take the Rider III which is still basic skills.

The clinic will start at 9:00 a.m. and run till about 4:30 p.m. with a lunch break. The instructor is a CEF Certified Level II Coach. Only a limited number of students will be taken so it is important to register early.

There will also be an exam day set for Saturday, October 26, for those riders wishing to gain certification.

The basic skills and knowledge acquired at these clinics is invaluable to any horseman wanting a safe and pleasurable ride. For more information call 724-2560 or 724-2295.

Elk Point assists the Lions

Leonard Franko

The St. Paul Lions are looking forward to a new season of football. After a disappointing 0-7 season last year, the Lions have nowhere to go but up.

The return of veteran players Roger Smith and Dave Smith will definitely help the team. With the addition of rookies Shane Smith as defensive halfback, Joe Young - defensive halfback, Richard James - f safety, and Troy Poitras - defensive halfback, the Lions hope to improve their defensive secondary.

The Lions started the season on a high note, defeating the Vermilion Marauders by a score of 18-14. They struggled with the Grand Centre Royals, losing by a 27-7 score. Against Lloydminster, the Lions moved the ball well but failed to score any touchdowns, despite the fact they were at the Lloydminster 15 yard line four times.

The Lions have two regular season games remaining. On October 3, the Lions are at home to the Wainwright Bisons, and on October 10, they finish the regular season at home against Bonnyville. Hope to see you there cheering our Elk Point contingent on!

Bicycle winner

Hans Rohner was the lucky winner of a very handsome bicycle in a recent draw at the Elk Point Co-op, sponsored by Connor Foods. Rodger Mc Laughlin presented Rohner with his prize, but unfortunately our photo of these two gentlemen did not turn out. Our apologies.

As Your Town Councillor

In Our View

The skies of October

Having just enjoyed an absolutely gorgeous sunrise, with pink and gold balls of clouds, tinged with purple, the sky behind and between paling from grey to lighter grey, while the wisp of moon, still hanging about in the eastern sky far above the sunrise, also was flirting with the planet Venus, I was moved to run and insert a roll of film in the camera.

By the time this was accomplished, the tops of the still-laden tall Balm - of - Gilead trees down below the barn were as fresh-dipped in molten gold. I ran out and snapped away, but by the time I lowered the camera, it was plain I'd missed the first bright flush. That will teach me to leave a camera unloaded - sever!

This was not a "red sky at morning" so we need not expect a really rotten spell of weather to ensue. My own prediction would be for a coolish day - it is, after all, October - with brisk winds continuing to yank off the scant remaining leaves and bounce them around the yard, discouraging any raking or bagging, painting of the back porch or other fall-type chores. It should be a lovely day for a drive, so we can nostalgically still spot some color, and bemoan the passing of summer.

We always hate to see it go, even if it's been a rotten summer.

As happens to me now and then, I was overcome with weather curiosity so went to consult my faithful Old Farmers' Almanac, 199th edition (1792 - 1991), so it says. What will it say for the tenth month, October?

For one, we learn that the occultation (the concealment of one planet by another, or by the moon) of the planet Venus, presently seen in the pre-dawn sky, by the moon (also lurking in the pre-dawn sky) will occur on October 4, visible only in Hawaii, to perfection, but I'm sure we would notice a proximity, if we look closely. Those other tiny pinpricks of bright over there are Jupiter and Saturn (or star Regulus) depending on which is brighter at the moment.

The full Hunter's Moon will loom high on October 23, and there may even be a hunk of it left for the Halloween persons, since at this time of year the moon rides high and bright, much more visible than in summer.

Following a summer such as we have had here, this bit of trivia may explain...something: Human hair expands in moist air, shrinks as it dries out. They even have a tool (hair hygrometer) for measuring it. I wondered why my hair was getting shorter, instead of longer. Maybe if it stays dry long enough, our barbers will go broke.

Have you ever been to the Space Science Centre in Edmonton? It is a most interesting place, full of massive facts about the Earth, Space and the Universe, and all things to do with space science. I can't say I learned much, only being there a couple of hours, and part of that watching a movie on a huge screen. But I'd recommend it for anyone interested in the space around us.

I picked up a little book, called "Weather Facts," it is almost as interesting and full of items on weather freakishness as the Weather Calendar on my wall. A few of the items mentioned are: that there are over 10,000 weather stations world-wide, all attempting to make us more aware of the weather around, over and under us. They communicate, to give us an over-all picture and the very best predictions.

Just to prove we didn't have the hottest weather ever, this past summer, here's a list of records: Highest Recorded Temperatures: Libya, Africa: 58 C (about 135 F); Death Valley, California: 57 C; Israel: 54 C; Queensland, Australia: 53 C; Seville, Spain: 50 C (Plus 50 C is around 120 degrees Fahrenheit on my scale). We start to die around here when it gets to 90 C.

Alberta Trails

By Irene Magnusson

They even measured the coldest spots: Vostok, in Antarctica at -88 Celsius; a spot in USSR, at -68 C; Snag, Yukon, -63 C; etc. Now there is no way for me to guess how really cold -88 Celsius might be, as my dual thermometer only goes down to 50 below Fahrenheit, which equals about minus 45 Celsius, so we're on our own from there. Our Elk Point weather has been much milder in recent years, in winter, even in the very short period, comparatively, of my own memory. We often had 50 below zero F and I recall when it was around 60 below for about 10 days, very hard on the livestock, the woodpile and the fingers. They must have expected weather like that, for those figures were on all the thermometers, then.

Oh, well. We may not have the very best weather and climate in the world, but we have, in the main, very 'liveable' weather. And it gives us something to talk about.

Quito (ke' to), in Ecuador, South America, has the name of "Land of Eternal Spring," because of its climate. Temperatures there never fall below plus 8 C (46 F) in the night, and hover around 22 C (72 F) during the days. Every month of the year, approximately 4 inches of rain falls. Sounds like heaven, huh? They probably have mosquitoes, or something, to take the joy out of life.

MOISTURE - 1991
To October 1
(As measured on my farm, 57-7-W4)

Jan., Feb., Mar. (snow melted) .88 in.
April..... 2.13 in. (rain)
May..... 1.58 in.
June..... 3.39 in.
July..... .81 in.
August..... .53 in.
September. .29 in.

The crop growing months of May, June and July amounted to 5.78 inches. Many showers were so light as to evaporate almost as fast as they fell, and the heat took care of the rest. In June, some rain fell VERY hard, but not as hail, packing the ground like a sidewalk.

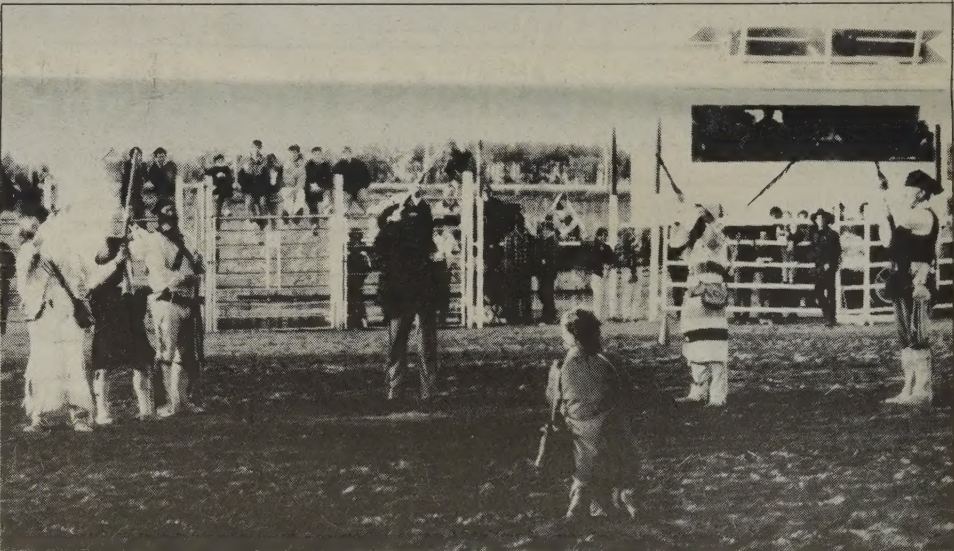

All together now

How many bricks does it take to build a community centre? Considering that the building is estimated to cost $1.4 million (that's a lot of zeros, folks!) and one of the bricks offered by the Community and Cultural Centre Building Society costs a mere $25, it appears that the pile will contain no less than 56,000. Or, at least it would if we had to buy it all, one brick at a time.

Already, well over $200,000 (or more than 8000 bricks) have been collected. At four bricks to the square foot, that's 2000 square feet paid for already--a space as big as two moderate sized homes. And that's before the actual fundraising campaign has even begun, and before a single dollar of grant money has been obtained. You could call it an auspicious start.

If you're thinking that you just can't afford to buy a brick, look at it this way. Considering that cigarettes now cost around $6 a package, that's only four packages that would have gone up in smoke, otherwise. Or 36 cups of coffee, or 10 magazines, or three gabby phonecalls to the far end of the province. It really wouldn't take that long to save up $25 by just giving up a bit here, and a bit there. And remember, those donations are tax-deductible, which your favorite treats aren't--quite the opposite, you pay GST on every one of the above.

Give it a try, won't you? Let's all help to get this building underway, only a brick at a time, maybe, but it will grow on us, and then think how proud we will have been to be a part of it.

BI CENTENNIAL Blast-Off

Black powder enthusiasts in fur trade era costumes fired a salute to officially mark the opening of the new Elk Point Fair Grounds. The Review's editor (centre front) tried to capture this on film but did not succeed anywhere near as well as Mrs. Kilby. Thanks for the use of the pictures, Debra.

Punished for being a volunteer

Last Thursday evening (September 12, 1991) the CBC Television Station held its first ever Volunteer-athon. The focus of this event was volunteerism and its importance to the community. CBC asked its viewers to call in and donate their time to many different causes.

Volunteerism has become so important over the years, that it warrants being recognized and hence we have Volunteer Week.

In a small community like Elk Point, a number of clubs and organizations are kept alive by the volunteers that believe strongly in them.

My involvement with the community, in a volunteer capacity has been with the Elks Lodge, Minor Hockey, Fish and Game, the Slowpitch League and for the past 3 1/2 years the Elk Point RCMP Detachment as an Auxiliary Member.

As an Auxiliary member, I feel that I have benefitted my community as well as providing a service to the RCMP.

The job description of an Auxiliary member is very similar to that of a regular member. They are enlisted to help and protect the citizens of the community. As an Auxiliary, a 16-hour per month requirement must be filled. This position to me is volunteer and not my full-time occupation. I do not drive around the community seeking information that would later incriminate someone. I am not a "Stooley" as I have been accused of being. I am also unable to prevent someone from getting a ticket or a fine because of my relationship with them, be it father, brother, friend or neighbor! If you have broken the law, you must be prepared to pay the price. Even I learned that lesson the hard way.

Due to bad feelings and a most recent public display that involved my family, I have decided to resign from my position as an Auxiliary member with the Elk Point RCMP Detachment.

I have enjoyed my work with the detachment and it saddens me to have to leave under these circumstances. I have not been personally confronted by people regarding my auxiliary involvement but my family has been. The comments that I have heard through them has caused me to be greatly concerned not only for myself but more importantly for my wife and daughter.

I find this situation most unfortunate; CBC is crying for volunteers and I am being punished for being a volunteer!

Fishing Lake holds information night

This year's Fishing Lake Settlement Information Night was a big success, with almost two dozen agencies, businesses and groups on hand with displays, pamphlets, and a wealth of facts and advice free for the asking. A large crowd toured the exhibits, entered the prize draws and enjoyed a western dance demonstration by Guy and Sylvie Brousseau of St. Paul.

Local agencies represented included the J. F. Dion Lunch Program Board, Fishing Lake Seniors, Fishing Lake Counselling Services, North East Alberta Health Unit and Teen Sexuality Counselling, Bonnyville Friendship Centre, Elk Point RCMP Detachment, Elk Point and District Further Education, Fort George - Buckingham House Bicentennial and Heinsburg Community School. Other tables presented information on the General Council Education Society, Settlement Transition Committee, Nechi Training Centre, Lakeland Business Development Centre, Esso Resources, Canada Employment Centre, AADAC, Forestry, Lands and Wildlife, Alberta Public Safety, Alberta Career Centre, Alberta Power, Legal Aid and St. Paul Crisis Centre.

Door prizes were won by five lucky visitors to the Information Night. Samantha Fayant took home the wall clock donated by the Settlement, while Renee Dechaine from Bonnyville Friendship Centre won a Fishing Lake sweatshirt, also donated by the Settlement. A free course donated by Further Ed went to Barrett Fayant, AADAC's T-shirt was won by Grace Durocher and the Bonnyville Friendship Centre T-shirt was won by Jason Flamm.

Curling news from the hack

Just when you thought it was safe to put away those baseball gloves and golf clubs and seriously think about vegetating for the winter, we're back!

The curling season is almost upon us, and preparations are being made for an exciting new season. In case you missed the annual meeting on October 2, our financial position has greatly improved, and there is no doubt that we are going ahead with another full year!

Registration Night will be Friday, October 18, 1991. Come down to the rink around 7:30 p.m. and we'll fill you in on the details. If you've never curled before, or been away from it for a while, come on down! Don't worry about not having a full rink. We can easily put you on a team, and guarantee that you'll have a great time.

Ladies, we would really like to see you back this year. Would you be interested in your own evening league, or an afternoon league, or a combination of both?

There has also been a suggestion to move the Mixed League Night to Friday evenings. What do you think? Please come to the rink on October 18 and visit with us.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact Dave at 724-4200 (days), or 724-8046 (evenings) or Mark at 724-2661 (evenings).

Look forward to seeing you ... in the Hack!

Busy year for volunteer firefighters

Ready To Serve Whenever The Need Is There

Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department is on call 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Whenever a fire or accident or other emergency occurs, these men and their fellow members are ready to roll, to save the life and property of anyone in Elk Point and surrounding area who needs their assistance. A gigantic salute to these dedicated individuals for the service they so willingly provide to our community.

Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department has had a busy year. In addition to their regular Monday practices, the 22 members of the Department have been summoned to six in-town fire calls, five trips with the rescue van, and a full two dozen calls to county fires.

In addition, the crew spent four sessions providing much needed water to the Mural Park lawns, when regular sprinklers could not combat the very dry conditions.

The out-of-town calls included fires in a pig barn, a house, a shed, bales, assorted vehicles, and the sanitary landfill.

Several new members have joined the Fire Department over the past year. These include Mike Meynberg, Sonny Veenstra, Doug Bielech, George Hahn and Doug Halwa, all welcome additions to the squad. Ken Palamarek has replaced Bill Marceciuk as Fire Chief.

Recently, the Department was able to purchase a van which will be outfitted to replace the current Rescue Van. Since Elk Point has still not come to the top of the list for grant funding, it will be necessary for the Firefighters to raise funds for outfitting the vehicle. Details of their fundraising project will be announced shortly.

Smoke alarms save hundreds of lives

"Over 90 percent of building fire deaths occur at home. Without a smoke alarm, your chance of dying in a home fire is twice as great as it would be in a home that has one."

Smoke alarms are one of the most effective and least expensive early warning devices ever invented. Since gaining popularity in the '70s, their effectiveness has been demonstrated time and time again by dramatically reducing the number of fire-related fatalities each year. In fact some U.S. studies indicate that if all homes were protected with smoke alarms, residential fire fatalities could be cut by more than 40 percent!

Last year in Alberta, 70 per cent of home fire deaths occurred in dwellings where there was no smoke alarm, or where the smoke alarm failed to operate.

"Properly installed and maintained smoke alarms can alert you and your family in the early stages of a fire ... when safe evacuation is still possible."

A smoke alarm installed where smoke first collects will sound an early warning before YOU smell smoke or see flames; that means installing smoke alarms on the ceiling, or high on a wall. And, since most home fire deaths occur at night, the best location for a smoke alarm is between sleeping areas and the rest of the house.

Message from the Minister

Almost every day in this province there is another news story about someone who has lost their home or property to fire. Last year, in most than 30 incidents in Alberta, the news was even worse; people died.

To experience a fire must be devastating.

Prevention is, of course, our best defence. But fire is unpredictable and non-discriminatory. And despite our best intentions, fire can happen at any minute, to anyone. Last year, in our own province, it happened in more than 2,000 homes.

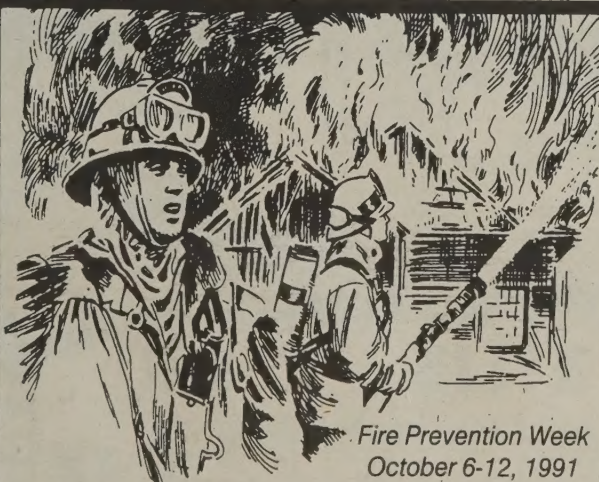

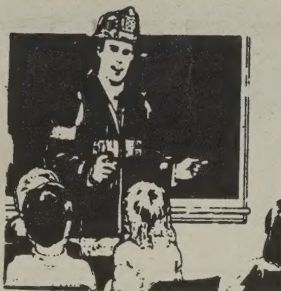

If a fire ever broke out in your home, your only defence would be to have a plan in place; a plan ingrained in your mind as to exactly what you would do; how you would get out.

That is the message of this year's annual Fire Prevention Week Campaign: "Fire Won't Wait. Plan Your Escape." It reinforces the reality that a small flame can become an all-consuming blaze in a matter of minutes, and it stresses the importance of practising an escape routine.

Please join me in supporting this fall's campaign by taking a few minutes to sit down with the people in your home and make up an escape plan. Then, practise it. It takes so little effort, and the time invested could very possibly save your life.

The Honorable Elaine McCoy,
Q.C., Minister of Labour

Bumper to Bumper Salutes the Firemen Thanking them for their voluntary services which are greatly appreciated.

Bicentennial Headquarters Officially Opened

Bringing The Past Alive

Bicentennial Coordinator Billie Milholland and Town Councillor Louis Verhagen study the past in miniature, as portrayed in the large model of Fort George created by Betty Schaap of Vilna in honor of the Bicentennial. The model, along with numerous other displays, drew much attention from visitors to the Headquarters Grand Opening.

Special thanks to Billie Milholland and the Bicentennial Committee for their input and assistance, and to Ray and Lorraine Danyluk, Dick and Doris Ludlage, Leigh and Debbie Babcock, who donated feed and bedding for the RCMP horses. Sincere appreciation from the R.C.M.P. Musical Ride Committee.

DANGEROUS WEAPON

Deep Tillage can make you a more efficient farmer. But if you come in contact with facilities buried beneath your fields, it can mean deep trouble. Remember, a good portion of Alberta's countless miles of underground cables and pipeline are buried in rural areas — possibly under your property.

What's news at the library?

Be a part of the Library fundraising event by baking pies for our Pie Sale, to be held Friday, October 11 in the Elk Point Co-op store, starting at 3:30 p.m. You can pick up the empty pie plate at the Library. This sale will last as long as the supply of pies holds out, so be early and help support the library so that we can continue our present level of service and programs to our Elk Point and district members.

If you attended the official opening of the Bicentennial office on September 27, you might have spotted the Elk Point Public Library's "BOOKALO" mascot. We would like to thank Peggy Smereka for all the hours of labor she put into making this great costume. Keep your eyes open at future community events where our Bookalo mascot will be seen again.

Sea Cadet update

Mona Yakimec

This past summer, 14 Sea Cadets from St. Paul went to different summer camps across Canada - GMCS Quadra on Vancouver Island, HMCS Gimli in Manitoba and HMCS Quebec in Quebec. The camps are from two weeks to six weeks in length. S/Lt. Murray Brooker, one of St. Paul's training officers was an instructor at HMCS Quadra for the entire summer.

On August 31, some of the Cadets marched in the Rodeo Parade.

For four weekends during the months of September and October, O/C Karen Christie will be attending a sail training camp at Hastings Lake, near Tofield.

On September 13, 14 and 15, we hosted our annual canoe trip on Moose Lake. This year we invited the Cadets from Cold Lake to participate. The weather didn't cooperate on Saturday, but we all had a good time canoeing on Sunday. We would like to thank all of the parents and volunteers who helped out during the weekend.

On September 19, the Cadets had a table set up at the St. Paul Community Awareness Night and we also had one at the Elk Point Awareness Night on September 17.

On September 20, 21 & 22, 8 Cadets and 2 Officers went to Pigeon Lake near Edmonton to participate in the annual "Sisterships" weekend. This weekend is designed especially for new Cadets, it shows them what the Sea Cadet organization is all about; they learn a little bit about everything: survival, canoeing, map and compass, sports and seamanship.

Coming up, the Cadets will be going out to the St. Paul Fish and Game Association range to learn small arms and weapons safety and to do some target practice.
